

Daniela Koiman, Attorney, Woodland Hills

"I have been advertising with PagesLA.com for two years now and just renewed for a third year. I am extremely pleased with the results and the volume of referrals I've been getting from the site.

Pages LA has been very responsive to my need and requests. When I needed to edit content with changes in my practice I could do so immediately and without hassles.

Overall, the response to my advertising and the great customer service are beyond what I expected. I wholeheartedly recommend this site to any professional."

Jacob Castroll, Insurance, Studio City

"Castroll Insurance has been serving the community for thirty years. We have built our business and reputation on great service and referrals.

We also believe in branding and name recognition, and part of it is advertising.

We have been advertising with Pages LA for the last three years, and happy to say that it is working for us!

The company has been growing in four years from one to ten online community guides, offering business owners from a huge selection of packages and products. The exposure and the return on investment are great!

We at Castroll Insurance are proud to be part of the network, and strongly recommend Pages LA for any business."

Lazar Berger, L.B. Construction, Valley Village

"I am a general contractor for many years, I advertise in different places in print, and online I advertise only with Pages LA.

When I met you Mira, you suggested a great way to start my online advertising in general contractors and handyman categories, I am proud to say – you were right! I got two big jobs through my handyman ad.

With your ads I do not buy leads and run to compete with many contractors, the response is from relevant homeowners that found my page and directly contact me.

I have been advertising with Pages LA for 2 years now, and I am renewing my advertising again. Your program works.

I am happy to provide you with this letter of recommendation to help your business like you help mine."
